HONGKONG, AUGUST 16TH, 1882.

ONE side of a case usually holds-good until ment that looked so fair, so reasonable, and sometimes so unanswerable vanishes like a fubric built on sand at the first inflow of the tide. His Excellency Governor Hennessy found no difficulty in constructing cases for land sea, the latter part variable winds, dark, the attention of the Secretary of State for gloomy weather, and squalls. On the 31st July, the Colonies, and, in the absence of all contradiction, these were naturally at first accepted as genuine expositions of fact. Indeed. Sir John Pope Hennessy must be credited with considerable ability in stating a case. -- It is only to be regretted that his despatches were, at the same time, so wanting in impartiality and fairness, so frequently tinged with the suggestio falsi, that much injustice was often wrought by them. In the latter portion of his administration, it is true, the Authorities in Downing Street, apparently weary of promises, and thoroughly tired of the muddled condition of some of the departments, owing right to lay lines to the different treaty ports, to the useless and impracticable schemes sought to be introduced by the Governor, more imperative and less disposed to accept His Excellency's state ments on trust. One official after another had gone home, each with a story of injustice and uncalled for interference, and the to Shanghai, reports :--- Left Yokohama at 7.30 patience of the Colonial Office had become in a bostile spirit the later assertions and suggestions of Sir John. She had white mast heads and yards, her lower varis being under water. Evidently the vessel was not long sunk as her sails were still on the yards. As the weather was fine and clear it is supposed the orew had landed on Balabar Island, which was distant about eight miles.

> We (N. C. Daily News) heard some time ago that the Government of Hongkong had withdrawn their permission to the Great Northern Telegraph Company to lay sub-marine cables for telephones in Hongkong harbour. It appears that H.M.'s Government took umbrage at the attempt of the Danish Company, whose connection with Russian interests is perfectly wellknown to them, not only to obtain the exclusive but also to produce the cancellation of rights to lay cables which had been granted to British subjects twelve years ago. These attempts of the Great Northern Company were successfully. defeated by the prompt action of the English. American, and other Ministers in Peking.

TANGLISH AND CHINES! DICTIONARY. WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION. An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the

this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given, FIHE P. & O. S. N. Co.'s Steamship the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained: The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the will leave for the above place about 24 hours Chinese and English type correspond in the size after her arrival with the next English Mail. of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore charactarized Chinese publications.

To illustrate the vast scope of the work, the following facts are submitted for consideration :- | THE P. & O. S. N. Co.'s Steamship Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English "BANGALORE," and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst will leave for the above place at 12 o'Clock this work contains more than 50,000 English (NOON) on SATURDAY, the 19th August, words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various applications and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitherto pub. J. Denecken, Master, will load here for the above

For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasion-

It comprises upwards of two thousand large A Large REDUCTION in PRICE is made to Purchasers of SIX or more Copies.

AT THE END OF LIFE. So many years I've gone this way, No many years ! I must confess Wasto energies, much disarray; . Yet can I own no weariness, Nor see I evening's shedows fall Down my much inscriptioned wall The warm air still is like mid-dov. And many mournful ghosts are past,

Laid still at last. The fabled fardel lighter graw As near the bourne the bearer drow; Lifé can, alast no more surprise By its continuous compromise. New faces fill the chairs, and so Our interest in the game runs low. Quiet pleasures longest stay. Experience packs so much away. I wait and wonder: long ago This wonder was my constant guest. Wonder at our environing, And at myself within the ring :

Still that abdes with me, some quest Before my footstops seems to lie, But quest of what I scarcely know, Life itself makes no reply, A quest for naught that earth supplies, This is our life's last compromise.
